Item 7 – Part 2B Appendix 1

Certified Public Accountant (CPA)

The Certified Public Accountant (CPA) is a professional designation for licensed accounting professionals. CPAs are licensed and regulated by their state Boards of Accountancy. While state laws and regulations vary, the education, experience, and testing requirements for licensure as a CPA generally include: a bachelor's degree in business administration, finance, or accounting, in addition to having completed 150 hours of education; a minimum of two years of public accounting experience; and successful passage of the Uniform CPA Examination® ("CPA Exam"). The CPA Exam comprises four sections: auditing and attestation, business environment and concepts, financial accounting and reporting, and regulation.

In order to maintain a CPA designation, states generally require completion of continuing professional education (hourly requirements vary by state). Additionally, all American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) members must adhere to a rigorous Code of Professional Conduct, which requires that they act with integrity, objectivity, due care, competence, fully disclose any conflicts of interest (and obtain client consent if a conflict exists), maintain client confidentiality, disclose to the client any commission or referral fees, and serve the public interest when providing financial services. The vast majority of state boards of accountancy have adopted the AICPA's Code of Professional Conduct within their state accountancy laws or have created their own. For more information, refer to the AICPA website at: <https://www.aicpa.org/home>.

Personal Financial Specialist (PFS™)

The Personal Financial Specialist (PFS™) is a professional certification for Certified Public Accountants (CPAs) awarded by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA). The PFS™ certification allows CPAs to expand their expertise and offerings to include financial planning and wealth management.

The requirements for the Personal Financial Specialist (PFS™) credential are established by the Personal Financial Planning (PFP) Division staff at the AICPA, the National Accreditation Commission, and the PFS Credential Committee. The four major requirements are:

- Hold a valid CPA license and be a regular member of the AICPA.
- For the Standard and Certificate pathways, earn a minimum of 75 hours of PFP continuing professional development within the five years preceding your PFS™ application.
- For the Experienced pathway, earn a minimum of 105 hours of PFP continuing professional development within the seven years preceding the PFS application.
- For the Standard and Certificate pathways, within the five years preceding the PFS™ application, complete two years of full-time business or teaching experience (or 3,000 hours equivalent) in personal financial planning or, for candidates in academia, a qualified credential holder should be a full-time professor and have taught at least four accredited college courses with 50% of their material included in the PFS Body of Knowledge.
- For the Experienced pathway, within the seven years preceding the PFS™ application, complete five years of full-time business experience (or 7,500 hours equivalent) in personal financial planning.
- Pass the PFS™ Exam.

A PFS™ professional is required to adhere to AICPA's Code of Professional Conduct and must complete 120 hours (or its equivalent) of continuing professional education every three years. For more information, refer to the AICPA website at: <https://us.aicpa.org/membership/join/pfs-eligibility-requirements>.
